
Marshgrass is a water-loving grass that grows in or near salt water. When this grass covers many acres, it is called a saltmarsh. The saltmarsh is a habitat for many animals, meaning it is a place that provides food and a home for living creatures. Can you name any other habitats?